

Trevor Sharon:

There's no greater feeling giving someone their life back.

Paul Doyle:

Sending them back to their families, sending them back to their jobs, writing their names, that's something that I'm passionate about, and I think that's what's driven our success.

Paul Doyle:

When an individual is arrested, they're concerned, they're scared and they want somebody who can protect their freedom. The experience that I've had both as a prosecutor and a defense lawyer allows me to create a plan that is detailed, that can anticipate potential problems with the case. With that trial experience, I've had a lot of success. There's nothing better than hearing the two words of not guilty. Whether it be fraud, assault, a computer related crime, many of these clients, it's the first time they've ever been in this situation before.

Paul Doyle:

There's so many unknowns that come with being accused of a crime. There's one thing that you can control, and that's the lawyer you hire. You have to be able to go to bed at night and feel comfortable that the person you're hiring is going to take care of you.

Trevor Sharon:

We really connect with the clients by placing ourselves in their shoes and understanding what they're going through. They develop a trust and a bond with us, because this firm cares about what they're going through and takes a true interest.

Paul Doyle:

If I do choose to take your case and take on the fight, many times it's the fight of your life. That means that I'm going to provide you with the time, and the focus, and the individual attention necessary. You've got a lawyer that's focused on you, not a lawyer that is focused on a hundred other cases.

Trevor Sharon:

We have an ego. We want to win every case we get hired on. Yes, we defend very elite people. We also defend normal everyday people. We want the result. We want to get that case dismissed and off your record. Whether big or small, we're going to work hard for.